As usual, Chertak, of the House of Wenger, at 1229 Walnut street, is showing far-in-advance models for the coming season, so that it is now possible to view and to purchase chapeaux for the late summer and early fall. There are pert taffetas, rich duvetyns, and luxurious velvets. The duvetyns are particularly interesting in line and ornamentation, being exquisitely embroidered and beaded. Mr. Wenger himself is now taking orders for fall and winter fur garments made from the supreme pelts for which his house is famous. These advance orders can be placed at a considerable saving compared with the prices of next fall. I was interested to discover that Mr. Wenger has thoughtfully provided a chilled fitting room, so that sample models can be tried on in fall and winter temperature—this is quite an innovation.

Folks, I've had some "inside information" in advance of a July clearance sale to be held at L. Stone & Co.'s, 1206 Walnut st. This sale will not be generally advertised and in it you will find innumerable bargains much worth your while—so I hasten to advise you of it, for it begins Tuesday morning. There are charming summer frocks to be had at $15, $25 and $35, though they are valued at from $35 to $75. In this group are dotted swisses, organdies and voiles of all colors. Capes, coats and dolmans now priced at $35, $50 and $100, were $75, $110 and $225. Satin dresses suitable for late summer and early fall are selling for $50, though their original prices were up to $125. Besides, there are on sale sport frocks, suits, Georgette frocks, etc.

Don't you want to be among the very first to adopt a new suite of toilet preparations just imported from a famous Parisian perfumer? There is an indescribably fragrant group consisting of sachet, toilet water, face powder and talcum, created by the house of Vivado, and named Mai D'Or. It is most reasonably priced. Bonwit Teller's perfume counter, a counter noted for having the unusual and rare in scents, powders, creams, etc., besides keeping a very satisfactory supply of the better known toilet preparations. But in the Mai D'Or line the perfume costs but $2; the talcum, 50c; face powder, $1; toilet water, $2, and sachet, $1.50. By the way, Bonwit Teller's has some of that much desired and scarce perfume, Rue de la Paix, distilled by Guerlain. The price is $12.
